Historical Note

The Seattle 2000 Commission was established in 1972 to draft and present to the Mayor and City Council goals for the City in the year 2000. The Commission created task forces in the issue areas of downtown development, the economy, education, the environment, government and citizen participation, law and justice, recreation, social and health services, social justice and human resources, transportation and utilities, and housing. The Commission's final report was issued in May 1973; it is cataloged separately in the Publications Index under the title Goal Statements from Task Forces of the Seattle 2000 Commission.

Content Description

This collection consists of meeting summaries for each of the various task forces, arranged by date. Generally more informal than official minutes, the summaries detail what was discussed at the meetings and often include results of brainstorming sessions.
