Biographical Note

Mike Mansfield represented Montana in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1943-1952 and in the U.S. Senate from 1953-1977. Mansfield's responsibility and prestige steadily increased through his tenure in Congress. He became Assistant Majority Leader (Majority Whip) of the Senate in January 1957, and served in that capacity until 1961, when he was elected Majority Leader of the Senate. He held that position until he retired from the Senate in 1977- longer than any other Majority Leader in the history of the U.S. Senate. He served as the Ambassador to Japan from 1977-1988.
Francis Ralph Valeo was born in Brooklyn, New York, in 1916. He studied Asia during his graduate work at New York University and served in Asia during World War II. After the war, Valeo worked in the Foreign Affairs Division of the Legislative Reference Service, where he worked on many Asia-related projects with Mike Mansfield, then member of the House of Representatives, who shared his interest in Asia. Valeo served as Administrative Assistant to Senator Mike Mansfield, 1958-1963; Secretary to the Majority, 1963-1966; and Secretary of the Senate, 1966-1977. Throughout his career, his interests and Mansfield's interests were closely tied.
