Biographical Note

Victor Steinbrueck was born in 1911 in Mandan, North Dakota and moved with his family to Washington in 1914. Steinbrueck attended the University of Washington, earning a Bachelor of Architecture degree in 1935. He joined the faculty at the University of Washington in 1946 and taught until his retirement in 1976. He was the author of Seattle Cityscape (1962), Seattle Cityscape II (1973) and a collections of his drawings, Market Sketchbook (1968).

Victor Steinbrueck was Seattle's best known advocate of historic preservation. He led the battle against the city's redevelopment plans for the Pike Place Market in the 1960s. In 1959, the City of Seattle, together with the Central Association of Seattle, formulated plans to obtain a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) urban renewal grant to tear down the Market and everything else between First and Western, from Union to Lenora, in order to build a high rise residential, commercial and hotel complex. In response to these plans a group of supporters of the market and members of Allied Arts of Seattle, led by Victor Steinbrueck, formed Friends of the Market in 1964. Their efforts culminated in 1971 with a successful ballot initiative, the "People's Initiative," which established a seven-acre historic district around the market and a historical commission to oversee it, and thus saved the Market from demolition. Steinbrueck also helped lead the campaign in the 1960s that culminated in City Council passage of an ordinance which established the Pioneer Square Historic Preservation District.

In 1972 Steinbrueck was appointed to the Citizens Action Force (Citizen's Stadium Task Force) which was concerned with the impact of the proposed King Street stadium on the surrounding area. He became disillusioned and resigned from the group on August 29, 1972. He joined the Citizens Coalition For the Domed Stadium in a petition drive to put a stadium initiative on the ballot.

For many years Steinbrueck fought the city over its Westlake Mall development plans. The project, initially conceived as a park in the area surrounding the Westlake Monorail terminal in Seattle's central business district, went through numerous plans incorporating, at various times, an office tower, luxury hotel, art museum and retail space. After Charles Royer took office as Mayor and proposed a new version of the Westlake project in 1978, Steinbrueck became the most vocal critic of the plan and a spokesman for Committee for Alternatives at Westlake. In the fall of 1984, City Attorney Doug Jewett achieved an agreement among Steinbrueck, other opponents of the project, and the developers, which incorporated Steinbrueck's ideas for more open public space in the development.

Steinbrueck was also spokesman for the Downtown Neighborhood Alliance, a group which opposed Cornerstone Development's Waterfront Project, proposed for First Avenue in 1980. He also was involved with numerous small projects and controversies regarding public spaces and historic sites.

Steinbrueck died in 1985. After his death, Pike Place Park was named Victor Steinbrueck Park in his memory.

Content Description

Campaign materials, correspondence, notes, minutes, transcripts of hearings, daybooks, ephemera, photographs and sketches, film and tape recordings. The bulk of material is from the campaign to save the Pike Place Market from destruction by urban renewal.

Detailed Description of the Collection

Accession No. 3252-001: Victor Steinbrueck papers, 1950-1975

approximately 6 cubic feet (7 boxes and 1 oversize package)

Arrangement: Arranged in 11 series:

- Campaign to Save the Pike Place Market
- Friends of the Market
- Seattle Pike Place Market Historical Commission
- Citizen's Committee to Save Pioneer Square and the International District
- Seattle Pioneer Square Historic District Preservation Board
- Seattle Citizen's Stadium Task Force
- Campaign to Save Broadway High School
- Committee to Save the White-Henry-Stuart Building
- Committee to Save the Bay Building
- Victor Steinbrueck personal papers
- American Institute of Architects, Seattle Chapter

Scope and Content: Includes campaign materials, correspondence, notes and minutes, transcripts of hearings, daybooks, ephemera, photographs and sketches, plus film and tape recordings.

The bulk of material documents Steinbrueck's efforts to save the Pike Place Market from destruction by urban renewal. The first two series, Campaign to Save The Pike Place Market and Friends of The Market, both document the effort to save the Market. All material that was labeled "Friends of the Market" is in that series; all other Market material is in the Campaign series. The correspondents, dates and subject matter of the two series is the same, so the researcher should use them together.

Other series include the Seattle Pioneer Square Historic District Preservation Board which documents, generally, Steinbrueck's interest in Pioneer Square. There is no evidence that Steinbrueck was a member of the Commission. Included in this series is a survey of all the buildings in the Pioneer Square district. Other series contain records of other preservationist groups to which Steinbrueck belonged. The Personal Papers series is the remainder of the papers that did not belong in any series.

The notes and minutes regarding Seattle City Council are detailed notes and exact quotations taken by Steinbrueck during Council meetings. Transcripts of hearings are also from Seattle City Council. The daybooks, in spiral shorthand pads, are diaries of phone calls, appointments, ideas, quotes, etc. The package contains hand-decorated and signed shopping bags from the "Save the Market" campaign. One item of special interest not related to the Market campaign is the Pioneer Square Historic District Study, 1969. It documents the Pioneer Square area building by building. Special Collections does not have maps, but does have the related photographs. Films show the market and various people speaking about it; tapes include Market material and a series of lectures by Steinbrueck on Seattle architectural styles.

Restrictions on Access: Open to all users, but access to portions of the papers restricted. Contact Special Collection for more information

Acquisition Info: Gift of Victor Steinbrueck, February 11, 1982.

Processing Info: Accession No. 3252-001 is a merger of Accession Nos. 3252-001 and 3252-002.

Accession No. 3252-003: Victor Steinbrueck papers, 1935-1986 (bulk 1962-1984)

7 cubic feet (7 boxes)

Scope and Content: Contains biographical information, correspondence, financial records, sales and royalties, writings, drawings, photographs, awards and honors, clippings, publications, subject files.

This material was in Victor Steinbrueck's home at the time of his death and documents varied projects but especially later ones, including Westlake Mall. The Pike Place Market campaign is represented, as is Victor Steinbrueck's book about it, Market Sketchbook, as well as his book Seattle Cityscape.

Most material concerning the Pike Place Market is in the Friends of the Market series, but material concerning his Market Sketchbook, which was used as a fund raiser for Friends of the Market, is in the Personal Papers series. Pike Place Park files are also in Personal Papers. Most material concerning the Westlake Mall project is in the Committee for Alternatives at Westlake series. Other series document Steinbrueck's activities as a board member of the Pike Place Market Historical Commission, and the City's Landmarks Preservation Board. He also had an informal connection with the Pike Place Market Preservation and Development Authority.

Included in the Committee for Alternatives at Westlake and Friends of the Market series are copies of correspondence of elected and city officials which were collected by Steinbrueck. This correspondence is treated as a series separate from Steinbrueck's own correspondence.

The Personal Papers series contains Steinbrueck's studies of Pioneer Square buildings. Steinbrueck's design studies helped put a number of buildings on the National Register of Historic Sites. The drawings in the Committee for Alternatives at Westlake series include Steinbrueck's rough sketches as well as copies of other designs for Westlake.

Restrictions on Access: Open to all users.

Restrictions on Use: Creator's literary rights transferred to the University of Washington Libraries.

Acquisition Info: Gift of Marjorie Nelson Steinbrueck, Victor Steinbrueck's widow, on August 16, 1991.

Processing Info: Processed in 1991.

Processing Info: Photographs were relocated to the Photography collection, Accession No. 2001-21, in 1992.

The 15 items transferred to the photography collection are as follows: 4 prints of model for proposed Westlake Mall, 6 photo montages of Pike Place Market, waterfront and downtown areas, 1 photo of "Hooverville," 1 contact sheet of dilapidated Market-area buildings and two additional contact sheets.

Accession No. 3252-006: Victor Steinbrueck papers, 1931-1986 (bulk 1966-1985)

6.9 cubic feet (8 boxes, two oversize folders)

Arrangement: Arranged in 6 series:

- Committee for Alternatives at Westlake (C.A.W.)
- Friends of the Market
- Market Agenda Steering Committee
- Seattle Landmark Preservation Board
- Seattle, Pike Place Market Historical Commission
- Personal papers

Scope and Content: Correspondence, minutes, speeches and writings, plans, drawings, photographs, environmental impact statements, reports, news releases, posters, petitions, financial records, court papers, drawings, maps, clippings and ephemera. Concerns Steinbrueck's activities as a historic preservationist, on behalf of Seattle's Pike Place Market and as an advocate for an alternative plan for the Westlake Mall. He also prepared architectural surveys of historic buildings in Pioneer Square and many Seattle neighborhoods, and designed small parks at the Pike Place Market and on Capitol Hill in Seattle.

Restrictions on Access: Open to all users.

Restrictions on Use: Creator's literary rights transferred to the University of Washington Libraries.

Acquisition Info: Gift of Marjorie Nelson Steinbrueck, August 8, 1996

Processing Info: Photographs were relocated to the Victor Steinbrueck II Photograph Collection, PHColl 547, in 1998.

9 postcards, mostly of Japan, one architectural drawing of a house for Mr. & Mrs. George Tepley, copies of printed surveys, "Inventory of Building and Urban Design Resources" for older Seattle neighborhoods, and one Pike Place Market poster were relocated within the repository. Contact Special Collections for more information.
