Historical Note

The Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives, established in 2013 at the OSU Libraries and Press’ Special Collections and Archives Research Center, is the first in the U.S. dedicated to collecting, preserving, and sharing materials that explore the commercial, agricultural, social, and cultural aspects of Northwest brewing.

Originally focused on Oregon's hop production, craft brewing movement, and Oregon State University research, the collecting scope expanded in 2016 to incorporate of all facets of the regional craft brewing industries (mead, cider, beer), as well as barley breeding and farming, homebrew organizations and practitioners, and regional pre-Prohibition era history.
Content Description

The Brewing and Fermentation Research Collection consists of research and subject files, memorabilia, and publications related to regional hops and barley farming; home brewing; and craft beer, cider, and mead. Of note are the homebrew club newsletters, publications, articles and theses, clippings, and brewery and subject files, marketing materials, memorabilia, and ephemeral items like beer cans, coasters, and bottles from various Oregon-based and regional breweries and businesses. Electronic records are a component of this collection, including documents and photographs on craft breweries, newsletters and reports, ephemeral items like event or beer release posters, and photographs.

Electronic records included in this collection are available in the Special Collections and Archives Research Center's reading room on the researcher kiosk.

Acquisition Information

The Special Collections and Archives Research Center began compiling this collection in 2013. Additions to the collection are made regularly.

Related Materials

The Brewing and Fermentation Research Collection is complemented by several other collections. The Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives Oral History Collection (OH 35) includes interviews from industry professionals, journalists and community members. Additional materials related Oregon State University research and manuscript collections are detailed on the Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives library research guide.
More information pertaining to the history of hop growing and brewing in Oregon can be found on the Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives website.

Detailed Description of the Collection

Series 1: Subject and Research Files, 1891-2016

This series contains a variety of documents related to the cultivation and management of hops, the history of brewing in Oregon and internationally including Prohibition, and the promotional documents of various breweries in the state. There are also files related to wine, sake, cider, barley and homebrewing, along with documentation of women in brewing, local laws and several theses regarding beer history and production.

This series includes beer koozies, coasters, stickers, 6-pack holders, bottles, clothing, cans, glasses, growlers, bottled beer, and tap handles from 1980 to 2015. These various items were collected from breweries including Fort George, Mazama, McMenamins, Miller, Coors, Gigantic, Burnside and Deschutes. Memorabilia was also collected from OHBA itself and events/programs sponsored by local brewing companies, such as the OSU Football program and Cinco de Mayo festivities.
