Biographical Note

The J.P. Smith Printing Company was a local printing establishment in Logan, Utah, founded in 1881 by John P. Smith and Clarence Cummings. The Smith Cummings Printing Company, one of the first printing establishments in Logan, later became the J.P. Smith Printing Company and operated as a family business run by the Smith family. Their offices were originally located at 25 Federal Avenue.

Content Description

The collection consists of duplicate printing jobs completed for various private patrons, businesses, local government, community, religious, and university organizations. The collection also contains print-orders from local citizens, businesses, schools, and restaurants. Among the items printed were newsletters, ads, and programs.

Included are a large number of funeral programs for Hall Mortuary, organized alphabetically by the last name of the deceased, and records for the Logan chapter of the Rotary Club, organized chronologically.

The "Family History" section focuses on personal prints made by Smith including Christmas cards, resumes, wedding invitations, and birth announcements, which are organized by the last name of the person(s) associated with the item. The "Pedigrees and Pictures" subsection of "Family History" contains family trees and photographs created by Smith's patrons who gathered their family history. The pedigrees are organized alphabetically by last name of the oldest patriarch on each tree. Many family trees contain information spanning back to the mid-19th century.
